

Cerberus Research & Insights, a New York-based opposition research and investigations firm, is looking for qualified candidates for private investigative work. Cerberus specializes in political and public affairs related projects, so conducting research and investigations against both Democrats and Republicans is a part of this job. Clients mainly range from law firms, consultants, and unions.

Experience Requirements:

- Minimum of 2 years in private investigation
- Minimum of 5 years in detective services
- Minimum of 20 years in law enforcement

Additional Requirements:

- Proficient in taking statements, report writing, analysis of evidence, and physical surveillance
- Working knowledge of Microsoft Word, Excel, and internet searches
- Must possess or be willing to get a valid New York State Private Investigator License
- Valid New York State Driver's License and a registered and insured vehicle
- Be able to work independently in NYC and/or Long Island, but also attend weekly office meetings

Preferred Qualifications:

- Notary public license

Salary:

$40-75/hour for basic investigative work and/or $100-$150/hour for advanced work and surveillance; commensurate with experience and scope of work

If interested, please email j@cerberusinsights.com with any questions or concerns to set up an interview with our team.